The People's Column

The election now being contested in Brazos county shows that our elections should be conducted along the lines of strictest observance of the law. The laws regulating elections are severe and they should be rigidly enforced. The judges should be particular that only qualified voters are allowed to vote. The tendency has perhaps been a little lenient in this respect. The ballot was won only after hundreds of years of fighting and suffering and it should be guarded with our other priceless heritages.

ABOUT BRYAN

Miss Eva Eberstadt of Jefferson arrived today for a visit to her brother, Secretary and Mrs. Sam E. Eberstadt. Miss Eberstadt has often visited in Bryan and has many friends here who extend to her a cordial greeting on her return visits. She is a gifted musician and a teacher of piano or high merit.

The fire alarm this morning at about 8 o'clock was in response to a call from the Eden gin, but the loss was negligible.

Mrs. John F. Eittle returned to her home in Bryan Tuesday night, after a delightful visit to her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Walker and family at Miami, Florida. Mrs. Higgins, her mother, who made the trip with her, remained in Florida to spend the winter with Mr. and Mrs. Walker.

Mrs. N. F. Locker, Mrs. W. E. Wimberly and Mrs. M. E. McCartney motored to Waco today, where they will visit friends. Mrs. McCartney goes from Waco to Hamilton, for a visit with her sister, Mrs. J. E. Moody and family. Mrs. Locker and Mrs. Wimberly will return to Bryan Thursday.

Identity of Murderer Not Yet Discovered

B. Y. P. U. Training School Being Held

If you have not been attending the B. Y. P. U. training school being held this week at the First Baptist church, each evening from 6:15 to 9:15 o'clock, under the leadership of T. C. Gardner, state B. Y. P. U. secretary of Dallas, you are missing an opportunity for profit and pleasure.

Tuesday evening's school proved unusually interesting, and with a fine attendance. The many names were enrolled in the various classes, and those enlisted in the Bible reading campaign in Bryan, made encouraging reports.

The inspirational hour, held in the main auditorium each evening and led by T. C. Gardner, is the motive power of this great week of training service. All who listen to his vital messages receive a spiritual blessing and greater service is evidenced as a result.

This, Wednesday, has been designated as "church night" and a great program will be enjoyed. Members of Circle No. 3 of the W. M. U. will be hostesses for the evening lunch to be served in the church dining rooms at 6:15. Everybody is invited to come, and enjoy the fellowship and then remain for the study classes and the inspirational hour.

Atwater-Kent Contest to Be Held Tonight

(From Wednesday's Daily) The local audition of the Atwater-Kent foundation radio audition which will be held tonight, Wednesday, Sept. 12, at 9 o'clock in the ball room of the LaSalle Hotel, will be an interesting as well as a prominent event in Bryan.

This event is a nation-wide experiment, to discover the best non-professional voices in the United States and give to them a brilliant opportunity for training, recognition and reward. This is the second national audition thus held, and Bryan is fortunate to be thus included with other cities in the splendid opportunities of this movement.

Local auditions are being held during the month of September and state auditions will be broadcast in October. District auditions of which there will be five, will be broadcast in December.

Winners in local, state and district audition will be one young man and one young woman. Ten finalists—five men and five women will receive the awards offered.

Mrs. Roy Danforth, local manager of the audition, with her committee, arranged every detail for this, Wednesday evening's hearing, and the public is cordially invited to be at the LaSalle Hotel ball room promptly at 9 o'clock for the hearing.

Bryan citizenship should encourage with a large audience this worthy and ambitious effort being made by our local singers and it is hoped that a great crowd will be present to hear the nine voices to enter the audition for this evening.

Mr. Edge stated that the largest crowd of the year was in Bryan Saturday.

REPUBLICAN CORRUPTION HIT BY MOODY IN DALLAS SPEECH

Moody Throws His Support to Governor Al Smith, Nominee of the Democratic Party for President; Democrats Alone Stand for Enforcement Laws of Prohibition, He Charges

(By Associated Press) DALLAS, Sept. 12.—The Democratic party of Texas, headed by Governor Moody, stood pledged today to support the party's Presidential nominee, Governor Smith of New York and at the same time to continue the fight to exterminate the liquor traffic, after one of the most violent conventions the party has held in the State. The Governor's statement of his position and platform declarations came only after the atmosphere of yesterday's convention had been cleared of anti-Smith sentiment. Governor Moody explained his position in an address before the regular convention by asserting that the Republican record was one of corruption in high places and that prohibitionists must look to the Democratic party for enforcement of laws.

Baptist Treasurer Backed Movie Girls Out At Hollywood

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 12.—Clinton S. Carnes, missing treasurer of the home missions board of the Southern Baptist Convention, was indicted by the Fulton County grand jury Tuesday on a charge of embezzling $69,000 of the mission board funds.

Solicitor General John A. Boykin said additional true bills would be sought in connection with Carnes' alleged manipulation of Baptist funds. The mission board recently announced that a shortage of approximately $1,000,000 had been discovered.

A bench warrant for Carnes' arrest was issued in Superior Court and bond assessed at $50,000 in the event of his apprehension.

Evidence that Carnes sponsored the moving picture careers of two girls has been found, it was announced here Tuesday. Thomas B. Scott, receiver for Carnes, prop- erties, said that not only had Carnes kept an accurate account of his patronage, but that there was found in his private papers a contract between him and the young women. This agreement, Scott said, provided that Carnes was to receive a part of the earnings of Miss Sonia Nordlie and Miss Lois Griffin. The contract was made through Mrs. Louise Pope, formerly of Atlanta.

The receiver said he was told the girls were with Mrs. Pope in Hollywood, attending a school for motion picture actresses. In response to appeals from Mrs. Pope for funds, Scott said he had wired her that Carnes had disappeared and that no more money would be forthcoming.

Scott's inspection showed that Carnes had invested nearly $12,000 in the talent of the two girls over a period of twenty-two months. Miss Nordlie having received $3,721.62, Miss Griffin $5,138.51 and Mrs. Pope $3,044. In return for the advance sums the girls were to give him part of their earnings later.

LOOKING FORWARD

It is the future that counts. Yesterday has gone to join the thousands of other days that make up the shadowy realm we call history. The calendar of the future lies before us, the pages unmarked, the leaves untorn. Opportunity beckons and the path to success lies straight ahead.

Forget the problems of the individual. Men come and men go, but the community lives on. Life is a stream that rolls ever onward and men and women are but drops of rain that is quickly lost in the rushing tide. The time has arrived when Bryan and Brazos county should take stock balance of their assets and liabilities and failures of the past and turn resolutely towards the future. Here is a land, rich in resources and in the history of lives of men and women who have made it what it is. Now it is up to us whether the heritage we enjoy will be increased and enriched and passed on to those who come after us.

Bryan today enjoys the things that go to make life worth while. We have all modern conveniences and improvements that make for health and happiness. We have public schools of the highest type. A. and M. College, Allen Academy, Villa Maria Academy, where a complete education can be had. There are churches of all the leading denominations with consecrated pastors and splendid progressive memberships.

Surrounding Bryan is a rich agricultural country producing a wide variety of products and can be developed to a high degree. Lands are fertile and cheap compared with other sections of Texas. One of the big problems of the present for Bryan and Brazos county is to build up both rural and urban life so as to hold more of our young people. That can be done by establishing more industries that will give employment to those in the cities and by improvements in farming methods that will make farming more profitable. The goal should be equality of opportunity between city and country, both as to earning and living conditions.

It should always be remembered that a community like a business takes time, energy and investment of capital to make it succeed. Those who have capital should contribute their share, those who have energy and ability should do their part.

There is much to do and a great deal to encourage us, but let us look forward and not backward.

One of the chief problems now confronting the League of Nations which is in session in Geneva, is prohibition. Prohibition is a social question and naturally affects all nations to some extent. Finland and some of the other nations of the league have some form of prohibition, and the league is confronted with the problem of keeping out smuggling of liquor. Each nation must be made to respect the rights of other nations.

We sometimes wonder if this is not just a government of big business. On September 1, in Texas, the gasoline tax was reduced from 5 cents to 2 cents by law. The public naturally expected the price of gasoline to drop one cent. But to the amazement of all the price of gasoline was boosted one cent by the wholesalers. It seems to be axiomatic with big business to charge all that the traffic will bear. In other words, it seems that the wholesalers in the oil business charge all they think they can get away with. This action is likely to augment the demand for an increased gasoline tax in Texas for good roads, an increase that in the past has been fought by the oil companies.

Secretary Sam E. Eberstadt of the Bryan and Brazos County Chamber of Commerce arrived in Bryan Friday afternoon from a tour of Texas in the interest of the Bryan and College movie. Mr. Eberstadt is one of the best known commercial secretaries in Texas, and his enthusiasm for Bryan has given the city much publicity over the state. All of Bryan is proud of Mr. Eberstadt for his good work in connection with the motion picture.

The price of cotton dropped almost a cent Saturday with the issuance of the government cotton report which predicted a crop yield of 14,439,000 bales. This is not a large yield and does not seem that the price should fall on that prediction. With the yield only fair and with only a small carry-over, the farmer should receive a better price for his cotton.

The person who pines over his hard luck needs to spruce up a bit.

Secretary S. E. Eberstadt Is Praised

Chairman Eugene Edge Pins First Flower

At C. of C. Meeting on Friday Night

An "open house" reception of the Bryan and Brazos County Chamber of Commerce was held Friday night at the Chamber of Commerce rooms in honor of Secretary Sam E. Eberstadt, who returned that afternoon from a tour of the state in which he carried the Bryan-College movie into every section of Texas.

President J. Webb Howell called the meeting to order and asked Chairman Eugene Edge of the educational committee to preside. Mr. Edge said he was very glad to report the wonderful success of the moving picture tour just completed, and wished to express his appreciation to all who contributed to its success. He then called upon Secretary Eberstadt for a report.

Mr. Eberstadt stated that he left Bryan Monday morning, Aug. 6, and returned Friday, Sept. 7. Traveling through 74 counties and showing the picture in 28 towns, going as far west as Sonora, as far south as San Antonio, as far north as Gainesville and as far east as Jefferson, his report showed. During the first week 5050 people saw the picture; second week 4976; third week, 5532; fourth week, 5039; two days in the fifth week, 3064, making a total of 22,661 paid admissions.

He said that at every place every courtesy and co-operation were extended by the county agents, A. and M. ex-students, Lions and Rotary Clubs, and secretaries of Chambers of Commerce. In each place he talked on the picture from two to four times at picture shows. He also was invited and addressed Lions, Rotary and Chambers of Commerce. When in West Texas he was with the West Texas movie-torcade and was introduced by Homer D. Wade, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. Upon all occasions he used for his subject, "Bryan, a City of Schools," which was the title of the picture.

In almost every place where they had a piano player or orchestra, when the A. and M. picture was shown, "The Spirit of Aggieland" was played. When the Texas and A. and M. game was shown, "Good-Bye to Texas University" was played. He used many novel stunts for advertising, one of which was to demonstrate a large tractor. He decorated the tractor with pennants of A. and M., Allen Academy and Bryan. He went over the business district and announced the picture with a megaphone. In one town a railroad picture was being shown, and a dummy engine was being used. He decorated this and woke up the natives with the bell.

Every daily newspaper in the places where the picture was shown carried articles of the coming of the picture and long stories after the picture was shown. The county agents and A. and M. ex-students used postal cards which they sent out to all A. and M. ex-students within a radius of 50 miles. The Mother's Club in many towns were active, too.

After Mr. Eberstadt's report, N. B. Allen was called upon to express his appreciation to the educational committee and to the secretary for his splendid work. It is not a question of securing students now, but of taking care of them.

Dr. T. O. Walton addressed the meeting, stating that the moving picture was one of the best and most conservative pieces of advertising any Chamber of Commerce had ever attempted. He said they had heard from the picture from all parts of Texas. He complimented Chairman Edge very highly for his splendid work and particularly wanted to express the appreciation of the college for the great work of Secretary Eberstadt, who not only put his best efforts in the work for his town, organization, and schools, but he also has helped the towns which he visited as he spread his message of co-operation. A motion carried that the Chamber of Commerce go on record as expressing its appreciation and sincere vote of thanks to the educational committee and its able chairman, Eugene Edge, to the A. and M. College, Allen Academy, Villa Maria, to the county agents, A. and M. and Allen ex-students, all newspapers, and anyone who contributed in any way in putting over this moving picture.

Judge W. C. Davis said he believed in the beautiful Bryan spirit of "Flowers for the Living" as he was present to welcome the prodigal secretary and to compliment him on the splendid work he has given Bryan's educational meetings.

Hon. F. L. Henderson spoke on the Bryan spirit of goodwill and co-operation. A committee from the Chamber of Commerce met Secretary Eberstadt at Hearne upon the arrival of the Sunshine Special, as follows: Eugene Edge, E. J. Jenkins, J. Bryan Miller, and Jack Howell.

The following were present at last night's meeting: N. B. Allen, George A. Adams, F. C. Bolton, Eugene Edge, H. O. Ferguson, Tyler Haswell, J. Webb Howell, F. L. Henderson, E. J. Jenkins, John M. Lawrence, J. D. Martin, J. Bryan Miller, Mrs. Lee J. Rountree, M. F. Vitopli, Dr. T. O. Walton, D. L. Wilson, A. M. Waldrop.

All Christian people in the United States sympathize with the Southern Baptists in their loss of a million dollars for the Home Mission Board through misappropriations. The fact that this money was wrongfully taken does not take away from the purpose of the fund. We have banks to fail and bankers to go wrong, but we do not lose confidence in the banking business. The home and foreign missions work of the church are among the most useful services that have been rendered to humanity.

A rural and industrial edition has been issued by the Weatherford Democrat, the issue being in magazine form and is one of the best of its kind that has come to our desk. The paper stresses the value of diversification, and ably presents the advantages offered by that section. A prize was offered for the best article on the subject, "Why I Like to Live in Parker County." An edition of this kind serves to remind the people of the valuable assets that may be found right at home.

It seems to us in Bryan that the farmer gets the worst of it on every hand. The first government report predicted a cotton crop yield of 14,291,000 bales. Based upon this prediction, the price of cotton was approximately 18 cents per pound. On this basis the value of the crop would be $1,286,190,000. Last Saturday the second crop estimate was made, and the yield was placed at 14,439,000 bales. The price of cotton dropped one cent per pound. The value of the crop at the new yield and at the new price is $1,227,215,000. Based upon an increased yield of 148,000 bales, the total value of the crop declined $58,975,000. Under the new price it would require 803,277 bales of cotton to bring $58,975,000. In other words if the farmers would go out and burn 803,277 bales of cotton they would receive just as much for their crop, before the last estimate was made and would save the picking of the crop. The farmers are penalized 655,277 bales for growing 148,000 bales. Again, this 655,277 bales really has no value at all. The farmers of the South have been robbed more than fifty millions of dollars for which there is no justification.

Dredging to Give Galveston a Deep Port in Future

Galveston, Sept. 7.—Memories of the past when ships were unable to come to the docks, because of shallow water and were compelled to unload cargoes into lighters while anchored well out at sea are recalled here with the beginning of dredging work which will give Galveston channel the greatest depth on the Gulf Coast west of the Mississippi river.

More than half a century ago, before railroads became important factors in transportation between Texas and the older sections of the United States, virtually all the commerce of the southwest moved through Galveston, then a small but thriving island port.

Full-rigged sailing vessels and ships in which "tea kettle" boilers were only incidental to the white spread of canvas aloft brought to the southwest through Galveston all the manufactured articles, foodstuffs, clothing and supplies consumed in the fast-growing territory. And with Texas as cotton stored in their holds these vessels sailed back to New England or to European countries.

Years after the war between the states the depth of water over the bars across the channel leading to Galveston harbor was only from eight to twelve feet, and fully loaded ships could neither enter nor leave port.

At the behest of Galveston and southwestern shippers seeking an outlet for their agricultural products, the federal government was prevailed on to aid and a stone jetty was thrown up into the Gulf to restrain the tidal sweep from silting the channel. Later the government selected Galveston as the point for building a new deep-water harbor between the Mississippi and the Rio Grande and the present jetty system was developed.

A depth of 25, and later 30 feet, was attained, the latter having been sufficient in recent years to handle the largest ships trading in the Gulf. But with larger ships being constructed and heavy dead-weight cargoes of grain, cotton, and sulphur moving from Galveston, a new project depth of 35 feet along the waterfront has been adopted and more than $900,000 appropriated for the work. The new depth will make it possible for almost the largest vessels afloat to load here.

Four million yards of material will be removed from the channel along the waterfront to reach the depth of 32 feet, with an additional over depth of two feet being allowed to care for silting. The work probably will require six months or more. The material is being pumped chiefly on Pelican Spit, a small island fronting Galveston channel and it is expected the grade of the land will be raised several feet, making available several industrial sites. The remainder of the material is to be pumped behind the new East End Seawall on Galveston Island. The work is being done under contract by a dredging company under supervision of army engineers.

The many friends of Jimmie Page, Bryan singer and auto mechanic, will be delighted to learn that he has signed up with the Bryan Buick Co. and will start to work Monday.

Mr. Page formerly was with the Halsell Motor Co. Recently he has been a "free lance," if a writer's description may be applied to a mechanic.

Doctors Disagree

When children are irritable and peevish, grind their teeth and sleep restlessly, have digestive pains and disturbances, lack of appetite, and have itching eyes, nose and fingers, doctors will not always agree that they are suffering from worms. Many others, too, will not believe that their carefully brought up children can have worms. The fact remains that these symptoms will yield in a great majority of cases, to a few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge, the sure expellant of round and pin worms. If your child has any of these symptoms, try this harmless, old-fashioned remedy, which you can get at 35c per bottle from Roman & Vick.

Fay Wilson Will Play Football in New York Again

ENID, Ok., Sept. 8.—Fay Wilson, former star halfback for Texas A. and M. College and now a member of the New York Giants pro eleven, arrived in Enid from Texas to accompany Steve Owen, captain of the team, to New York. They left Thursday for Gotham. They planned to stop over at Kansas City, where for two seasons Owen wore the uniform of the Kansas City Cowboys.

"Well," sighed the poor city man as he saw the birds of the country, "I'm better off than that buzzard up there."

Senator Mayfield Thanks Friends

United States Senator Earle B. Mayfield has written the following letter to Ty Cobb of Bryan, in which he expresses thanks for the support given him by his friends.

Senator Mayfield states that he has malice toward none, and as United States Senator he rendered the best service of which he was capable. The Senator has a number of close friends in Bryan, and as a member of the Senate he has been an ardent friend of A. and M. College and Allen Academy, local educational institutions.

Following is the text of the letter: "I cannot refrain from again thanking you for everything that you did for me in the senatorial contest. For such friends as you there shall always remain in my heart an everlasting affection."

"It is not necessary to enter into a detailed explanation of the causes of my defeat because they are apparent to anyone familiar with the political upheaval now going on not only in Texas but throughout the entire nation. On account of this disturbed political condition in our state, just exactly 244,559 democrats refused to vote in the primary on August 25 as compared to those voting in the first primary in 1926. I think any unprejudiced person would admit that at least two-thirds of these democrats would have voted for me had they participated in the August primary of this year."

"The democrats of Texas, however, have spoken, and I bow to their will. With malice toward none, I accept the result of the election. When I retire from the service of the people on March 4, next spring, I will carry with me the satisfaction of having given them the best service of which I was capable. My greatest desire is to live as to merit the confidence and esteem of the democrats of Texas."

Whenever I can be of the slightest service to you, do not hesitate to command me."

Bryan Contributes Many Magazines State Penitentiary

Mrs. J. Webb Howell and Mrs. Travis B. Bryan who are gathering up magazines and books for the prisoners at the state penitentiary at Huntsville in response to an appeal sent out by Rev. E. W. Miller, are having splendid success, hundreds and hundreds being contributed, these to be boxed and shipped.

Saturday will close the time for receiving magazines. Anyone with books or magazines to give will please place them on the porch at Mrs. Howell's or Mrs. Bryan's.

The ready response which the Bryan people made to this call is but tangible evidence of their willingness, always to do whatever they can for the unfortunate.

From Farm Hand to Congress Is Career of Lee

Col. R. Q. Lee of Cisco, proved that a business man could be elected to Congress in Texas without engaging in a campaign of mudslinging. When his friends announced him for the post of Congressman from the Seventeenth District he agreed to make the race, but declared that he would refuse to engage in a campaign of vilification regardless of the outcome of the race. Colonel Lee was high man in the July primary, and in the run off was pitted against Oscar Callaway of Comanche, former Congressman of the Fort Worth District and a master campaigner. Lee was made the target of a bitter personal campaign. However, he steadfastly held to his resolution to engage in no personal thrusts at his opponent. When the returns were counted Lee carried sixteen of the nineteen counties of the district and received a substantial majority of the votes.

The career of R. Q. Lee in Texas is striking proof that the Lone Star State offers opportunity for a youth to rise from a humble beginning to a place of high in the councils of state and nation. Lee came to Texas from Mississippi forty years ago, first settling in the eastern part of the state and later removing to Caddo in Stephens county. He was by degree a farm hand, a clerk in a general store, a cross roads country merchant, a farmer, ranchman, a country banker; and later a railroad president. He has been an outstanding churchman and has made numerous gifts to churches and schools. His outstanding work in Texas development was the building of the C. & N. E. railroad extending from Cisco to Breckenridge, and later extended to Throckmorton. As president of the road, Lee successfully guided it through the trying days following the great war when practically every short line road in the country, except the C. & N. E., went into the hands of a receiver. After successfully operating the road for eight years, he sold it to the Texas-Pacific and secured for all stock holders who held their stock one hundred cents on the dollar for all stock held. Greenville, Sept. 7.—Despite the fact that a temporary injunction had been granted restraining the Fairbanks-Morse Company from endeavoring to sell equipment for a municipal light and power plant at Commerce, officials of that city said the site already had been selected and the erection of the plant would start immediately.

The temporary injunction was granted in district court here yesterday upon application of the Texas Power and Light Company. The petition recited that the plaintiff had been serving the city of Commerce with lights and power under a contract entered June 22, 1923, and extending to July 30, 1930.

As an alternative to the injunction by the Texas Power and Light Company asks damages of $350,000.

Matthews Kine, Youthful Outlaw, to Plead Guilty

OKEMAH, Okla., Sept. 7.—Matthew Kimes, youthful Oklahoma outlaw, will plead guilty Saturday to a charge of murder in the killing of W. McNally, town marshal slain in a bank raid at Beggs, Okla., his attorneys revealed.

It was expected he will receive a life sentence for the crime instead of the death sentence returned against him by a jury in the hearing a year ago, declared a mistrial.

East Texas Suffers Heavily From Infestation of Insects in Recent Years, Shows F. L. Thomas of A.-M.

LONGVIEW, Sept. 7.—Past application of dust if the foliage is dry and the conditions are such as to warrant the use of control measures, it was found. For flea hoppers fine dusting sulphur proved to be best when applied at weekly intervals and beginning as soon as the infestation is noticed.

"The Division of Entomology has also co-operated with three commercial airplane companies studying the possibilities of airplane dusting for boll weevil control as practiced in Texas. The results of this work will soon appear in published form.

"A careful and thoroughly outlined investigation of the cotton boll worm is now carried on at three locations, two of which are in East Texas; namely, McKinney and College Station. The cotton boll worm is a common insect that is distributed throughout the state and that probably causes nearly as much damage year after year as the boll weevil. It is also a pest of corn and tomatoes. At present no satisfactory control measures for checking injury in cotton are known. This work should be continued on a scale that would reach other sections of East Texas and of the state.

"Other studies that are being carried on from year to year and which are becoming of increasing importance are the investigations in connection with the hibernation and survival of cotton boll weevils and cotton flea hoppers. The results obtained are valuable in showing what may be expected in a season with reference to the abundance and time of occurrence of these insects.

"Investigations of the insect pests that frequently cause injury to truck crops in East Texas have not been undertaken except in a few instances. In connection with the sweet potato weevil considerable work already has been done. The enforcement of legislative measures recommended as a result of this study has undoubtedly accomplished a great deal in reducing the extent and severity of the infestation."

A number of other investigations conducted by the Division of Entomology are detailed, and the chief of the division concludes with the statement that the need for still other investigations is apparent.

MAJOR HANNA KILLED WHEN HIT BY TRAIN

FATHER GLEISSNER GOES TO CALVERT TO CONDUCT FUNERAL

Rev. J. B. Gleissner, pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic church, went to Calvert this morning to conduct funeral services for Major J. P. Hanna, who was instantly killed late yesterday when struck by the Sunbeam, fast passenger train of the T. & N. O. railway.

According to witnesses Major Hanna who was afoot, failed to quite clear the track, and was hurled against a switch truck. He was dead when picked up.

At the time of his death, Major Hanna was county democratic chairman and commissioner of precinct one. He was one of the officers in the head camp of the Woodmen of the World, being active in this work along with his political affiliations, of which he had long been in prominence. He was actively identified with Hood's Brigade, U. C. V.

Educated at Washington and Lee college, Major Hanna was a student at the famous institution under the presidency of Gen. Robert E. Lee. For most of his life, Major Hanna had been a resident of Calvert, coming here from Chapel Hill, where he was born.

Funeral services were held this morning from the residence and with interment in the Calvert cemetery. Surviving are two daughters and one sister: Miss Mattie Hanna, Calvert, and Mrs. H. A. Rogers, Preston, Cuba and Mrs. E. F. Peters, Calvert.

Afghanistan to Be Nation of One-Wife Husbands

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Following the lead of Kamal Pasha in Turkey, King Amanullah has decreed that Afghanistan shall become a nation of "One Wife Husbands" according to dispatches received here from Kabul. At least, it is believed that the Oriental king intends to restrict his male subjects to one wife at a time.

The king's stand against polygamy is attributed to his trip through western Europe during which time he visited England for several weeks with his consort Queen Soraya. It was during this journey that the queen discarded her veil for the first time, and the Kabul dispatches indicate that she is now working for the scrapping of veils among the women of Afghanistan.

Ban On Harem

The king's ban on harems refers particularly to governmental employees, but it is believed that the decree will have a strong effect toward the ending of polygamy throughout the entire kingdom. His decree, according to messages received here, follows:

"Any government servant who takes a second wife will have to tender his resignation."

In an interview given here, an Oriental authority predicted that in a few years the whole world would be monogamous. He commented:

"King Amanullah and his queen have taken English ideals back with them to their land among the mountains. The king has said frankly that he is on the side of the emancipation of women; the queen is openly working for the throwing away of the veil."

"They want to see the standards of the west—particularly of England—adopted in their own country."

"Not that polygamy is practiced universally in Afghanistan. Even when he can afford it, the Afghan does not maintain a big harem. The Koran allows the Mohammedan four wives, but very few Afghans have more than one."

Young Folks Different

"There are still thousands of women, of course, whose lives are still bounded by the four walls of their homes. They are perfect housewives; in virtue, and loyalty to their husbands, and courage in adversity, they can hardly be rivalled among the womenfolk of the world."

"The younger generation is changing. A little while ago the girls' school founded by the king had hardly 200 students. Today it has more than 2,000 and several other girls' schools have been established in the country."

"In Turkey polygamy and divorce, at a husband's caprice came to an end two years ago."

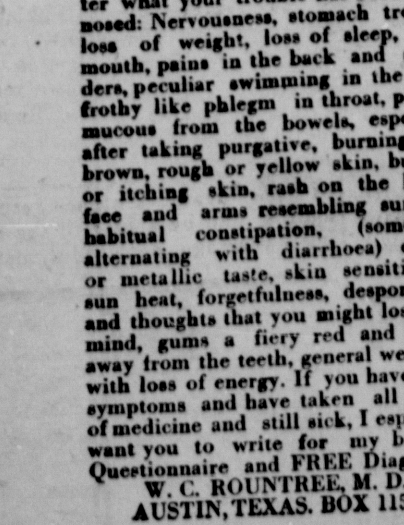

"On the last day before its abolition many people made a rush to marry under the old system—over 300 couples married that day in Constantinople—but it was the last flicker."

"Polygamy has been quickly dying. Nowadays there is hardly anyone in Turkey who wants a return to the old ways."

"So it is going on all over the world. Women are coming into their own; they are better educated, more intelligent, more independent. They refuse to be one of the harem—even one of a harem of two."

A Great Discovery

When Pasteur discovered, in 1852, that the infection of wounds was caused by malignant bacteria, he performed a service of incalculable value to mankind. Since then medical science has been working to kill these germs that may enter the smallest cut and give us diseases such as typhoid, tuberculosis and lockjaw. Now, all you have to do to not infect a wound is to wash that wound, however small, thoroughly with Liquid Borozene, the modern antiseptic. You can get Liquid Borozene, in a size to fit your needs and purse, from Roman & Vick.

Baylor University and the University of Arkansas, two of the strongest contenders for the Southwestern conference football championship today decided to play their annual game at Grim stadium in Texarkana. Meeting for the first time on the state line on a strictly neutral ground, with both teams traveling approximately the same distance, neither team will have an advantage. The game gives promise of being the most colorful of the season for both teams.

Special trains will bring supporters from both Waco and Fayetteville, while football fans and alumni from Arkansas, Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana are expected to attend.

Reservations and arrangements for the game are being handled by the Texarkana Chamber of Commerce. The date of the game is October 13. On the morning of the same day the Texarkana Junior College will meet the Magnolia Aggies.

Accidental Deaths Highest in Males

The latest figures available show that 95,500 deaths by accident occurred in the United States last year. The figures show that the greatest number of these accidents, 23,251, was due to the automobile.

Falls of all kinds claimed 17,000 lives. Deaths by suffocation, which includes drowning, numbered 8,000.

It is interesting to note that twice as many men and boys are injured as are women and girls, according to a digest just completed. Partly, of course, this is due to the fact that more men and boys are employed and are on the streets, but safety experts figure the inequality is also due to greater female caution.

Gov. Byrd Tells Why He Is for Governor Smith

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 10.—No Democrat has a valid excuse to desert his party on the prohibition issue, Governor Harry F. Byrd declared recently in a call to arms to the party in which he praised Alfred E. Smith, Democratic presidential nominee, declared he would work to carry Virginia for the candidate and urged all Virginians to support "the greatest administrator of State government in America today."

Governor Byrd, who is national committeeman from Virginia and a life-long personal and political foe, issued the statement through Chairman J. Murray Hooker, of the State Democratic Committee. He declared that opposition to Smith is based on three points: He is wet, a Catholic and a Tammany man. The statement vigorously defended the candidate on these premises.

Governor Byrd pointed out, using the Smith acceptance speech as a basis, that the candidate is utterly opposed to the return of the saloon and argued that urged all Democrats to rally to the party warning that the destruction of the Democratic party in the South might prove disastrous to this section.

The Governor's statement follows:

"I have already announced my support of the Democratic candidate for President and Vice-President, but I have waited until our candidate's speech of acceptance to elaborate my faith in Alfred E. Smith as the nominee of the Democratic party. This faith is founded on a study of Mr. Smith's work as Governor of our most populous Commonwealth, for his record in no way affects Virginia unless Virginia votes in favor thereof."

On the Tammany and religious issues the Governor argued that if Smith is blamed for misdeeds of this organization, he would be plausibly be blamed for the wholesale corruption which went on in high Republican circles; while he cited Smith's performance as Chief Executive of New York to offset opposition based on religion.

Conceding that "Virginia Democrats cannot be driven either for or against Smith," the Governor and wealthiest State, on personal inquiry of scores of men and women who know him well, and on personal conversations I have had with him since his nomination.

"As a dry Democrat and as one who did not support Governor Smith for the nomination, but voted for a distinguished Southerner; as one who has been greatly honored by the Democratic party of Virginia, I welcome the opportunity to state my enthusiastic support of Governor Smith and my reasons therefor. I respect the views of those Democrats who for conscientious reasons hold a different belief; but I possess the hope that thoughtful consideration will impress upon them the danger to our State and nation in deserting the Democratic party in this critical period of its history.

"Governor Smith, as nominee of the Democratic party, is under attack in Virginia; an attack that is both violent and open, personal and political, secret and sinister. I am willing, without apology, to appear as a witness for him and the Democratic party he represents before the jury of the people of Virginia, not only because he is the candidate of my party, but also because he is a fellow man entitled to fair play."

Home of Illustrious Texan Situated Near Huntsville To Be Kept

Plans are in the formative stage looking to the preservation of the home of Henderson K. Yoakum, the historian who wrote Yoakum's history of Texas, from the year 1685 to 1846, published in 1856.

The home of the illustrious Texan is situated about eight miles east of Huntsville, Walker county. The home and grounds which consist of about eleven acres, can be purchased, it is said, at a reasonable price. The plan is being outlined, will provide for the re-instatement of the house and grounds to conditions in which kept during the life and occupancy of the pioneer.

Football Is Now Stabilized Says Coach D. X. Bible

FORT WORTH, Sept. 10.—The game of football is about stabilized and after next year practically no changes will be made in the rules. D. X. Bible told a large body of the Southwest's most famous coaches, officials and players here at the University Club. Bible is the head coach at Texas A. and M. and a member of the national football rules committee. He and the approximately 200 gridiron prominent players were here to discuss and interpret the 1928 rules.

"In 1928," said Bible, "the rules will be rewritten so as to embrace all the changes during the last twenty years in the simplest possible language and after that the game will likely be left alone. Like baseball the rules will remain practically the same from year to year and the public will have a chance to familiarize itself with the details. That has been impossible recently when major alterations were being made between every season."

The principal alterations in the rules for the coming season concern:

1. The incomplete backward pass. That rule has been so modified so that only those lateral passes which travel through the yards two or more yards are considered passes. Such passes are defined as "protected backward passes" and if incomplete may be recovered by either side, but will be dead at the point of recovery. In other words, a player can not pick up the ball and run with it. A lateral pass which travels less than two yards and is dropped will be treated as a simple fumble and a player of either team may recover and run with the ball.

2. Rule 18, section 5, has been amended so that it is no longer necessary to draw and distinction between a muffed punt and a fumbled punt after a ball has been kicked beyond the line of scrimmage it is to be considered a "kicked" ball until it is declared dead by the referee.

3. In rule 16, section 3, a change has been made so there can be no interference of any kind with any of the passing side's eligible receivers who have passed the line of scrimmage.

Bible spent the entire day going through the rules and clearing up doubtful points.

Heretofore the Southwest board of officials found it necessary to make some interpretations of their own on some of the rules, but that was not the case Friday. By careful reading of the rules and approved ruling it was found that the national body had covered all the ground, and it was only necessary to completely understand their intent. As Bible just completed a session with that body he was able to steer the local meeting through.

In addition to the new rules all the coaches and officials of the section are to be supplied with bulletins which fully set forth all of the changes and their effect.

The 1928 Southwest meeting will be held in Waco. W. V. Fort extended the invitation, which was accepted. This was the first year the gathering was ever held away from Dallas. It was brought here by the invitation of Trav Daniel, who supplied a luncheon and entertainment for all those who attended.

Carlsbad Cavern Has Many Guests

CARLSBAD, N. M., Sept. 10.—During August 14,688 visitors passed through Carlsbad Cavern, says a report by Thomas Boles, superintendent of the Cavern. This brings the figures for the eight months of 1928 to 35,393. August alone was more than the total of the years of 1925 and 1926, when 14,194 visited the caves.

The total for the eight months of last year, including August was 21,924.

The National Park Service ascribes the large attendance to publicity which followed the visit here on Aug. 7, of Gov. Moody of Texas, Gov. Dillon of New Mexico and other officials of two states at the district convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Sunday Banner Day for First Baptist Church

Sunday was a great day at the First Baptist church in Bryan, and if the spirit and enthusiasm of the day is prophetic of the success to attend the Week's Training School in B. Y. P. U. methods, begun by T. C. Gardner of Dallas, and running from Monday, Sept. 10, to Friday, Sept. 14th, then, even greater blessings and benefits are in store for the church and for Bryan.

Following the Sunday School hour, which showed the greatest number present for fall season just approaching, T. C. Gardner spoke at the morning service, bringing an inspirational message to a large audience.

A "Pep" meeting for all who are interested in the training school was held at 3 p. m., with Mr. Gardner and R. C. Buckner of Dallas, who is a member of the faculty for the training school, leading the program, and outlining in a clear way the services for the week.

One of the goals to be undertaken by the First Baptist church for the present week is to enlist 2,500 people in Bryan in reading the Bible. This campaign was begun at the Sunday afternoon meeting, and already several hundred have enlisted. "Promise that you will read 10 verses in the Bible for one week," is the question asked by those who are enlisting Bible readers. "Thy word have I hid in my heart that I may not sin against Thee," is an incentive to make this campaign a blessing to all Bryan.

The work of the Training School begins in earnest this, Monday evening, Sept. 10, at 6:15 o'clock, when lunch will be served at the church for all who enter the school. The women of the W. M. U. are in charge of the lunch and invite all who are interested in the B. Y. P. U. work to be present.

First Suit for Bird Violations Has Been Filed

BEAUMONT, Sept. 10.—The first suit in a drive on violations of the game laws has been filed here with charges that a "sacred bird" had been slain. L. S. McCrory, deputy fish, game and oyster commissioner, announced that "hunters for income" will find hard sledding in southeast Texas.

The game warden said that in the past season ducks have been shipped from the Gulf coast section in barrels, the catches being made from the marshes in the south end of Jefferson county where game is plentiful.

McCrory also declared that the game laws have been violated by fishermen, who have strewn the beaches with undersize fish.

Dredging of Canal Will Start Soon

PORT ARTHUR, Sept. 10.—Dredging in the mouth of the Port Arthur canal at Sabine Pass is expected to get under way soon, it is announced by Major F. W. Clark, United States engineer in charge of the Sabine district.

The entrance to the canal will be dredged to a width of 200 feet. The project is separate from that of the canal itself, but appropriations have also been set aside for dredging of the Sabine-Neches canal. This is held up pending decision of the war department on construction of a bridge across the canal at Port Arthur.

Texas Well Represented in List of General Federation of Women's Clubs Officials

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Texas has been given large representation in the official family of the General Federation of Women's Clubs as announced from national headquarters here. Work of making up the official list is doubly arduous because all States and a multiplicity of interests must be considered.

Mrs. John F. Sippel, the newly elected president, in discussing this phase of the early work of her administration, said:

"My great appreciation of Texas and of the exceptionally fine women who constitute its club membership prompts me to make among my very first appointments some of Texas' leading women."

Mrs. Henry Drought, local biennial chairman, has been made adviser of the department of fine arts. Mrs. R. Q. Lee has been made vice chairman of resolutions and Mrs. Meade F. Griffin has been made vice chairman of the department of press publicity.

"Other appointments include Mrs. Phoebe K. Warner, who has been made chairman of the newly created committee on rural co-operation, a work which is to be spotlighted throughout this administration, and Mrs. Lee Joseph, who has been made a member of the international relations department."

"Mrs. Florence C. Floore, vice chairman of the board of trustees."

Mrs. Maggie W. Barry, general federation director, and Mrs. W. E. Potter, State president, give Texas as a representation of eight in the "official family" of the general federation, and, as there are many other appointments yet to be made, it will be my very great pleasure to continue to accord Texas all possible consideration.

"Realizing, as we all do, that these appointments must be fairly distributed, I have a sense of keenest satisfaction when I consider the faithfulness and loyalty of Texas clubs to the general federation. On such action depends a successful State and general federation administration. Of the 50c per capita dues paid by members of the Texas federation but 10c goes to the general federation. The 40c kept in Texas maintains the State federation, and, although it is not a great sum, taken in the aggregate it amounts to a goodly amount toward carrying on the great work in which we are all happy to have a part."

"I am looking forward with pleasure to attending the State convention in November, at which time I hope to renew the many pleasant friendships formed at the biennial in San Antonio and at the last State convention and to recalling my happy memory of the generous hospitality of the State in general and San Antonio in particular."

Son of Gen. Sam Houston for Herb

HOUSTON, Sept. 10.—Colonel Andrew Jackson Houston, superintendent of the San Jacinto Battle-ground Park, and the only surviving son of General Sam Houston believes in bolting a nominee when the nominee bolts the platform, he says. He is an ardent supporter of Herbert Hoover. "The people of America should repudiate New York City's efforts to undo everything constructive that has been done in the way of prohibition," the Colonel declared, "and the best way to repudiate the big city effort at domination is to vote against Smith." Houston Williams, insurance man of this city and grandson of General Houston, committed himself to Hoover before either of the national conventions, and alludes to Hoover as by all odds the most capable man the nation could pick for president.

New Child Genius at Age 6 Is Found

New York, Sept. 10.—In proof of her theory that a precocious child may develop native ability without injury to health, Dr. Winifred Sackville Stoner, whose own daughter was the marvel of educators, today announced the discovery of a new child genius.

At the age of six, Lorraine J. Lett, of No. 393 Central Park West, speaks and writes in French, English, and Spanish, writes and directs her own dramas, composes poetry, paints, and conducts all her correspondence on a typewriter, and despite her unceasing activity, Lorraine has been pronounced as being physically perfect as a child may be.

Dr. Stoner discovered the child through her work as president of the league for fostering genius. Lorraine comes daily to "Mother Stoner" to "play" and in the course of her recreation has developed a mentality which led a committee of the league to pronounce her as obsessed of the "genius spark."

Wholesale Reform Is to Be Presented

AUSTIN, Sept. 10.—Renewed efforts to initiate a wholesale reform on the Texas tax system, so as to remove some of the burden now borne by farm lands and city real estate, will be recommended to the state democratic convention at Dallas next week by State Tax Commissioner F. C. Weinert and others.

The convention will be asked to adopt a resolution urging the next legislature to do something about the matter.

In view of the fact that Governor Alfred E. Smith, democratic presidential nominee, has declared aid to the farmer should begin at home, Commissioner Weinert said today he considered some action by the state convention would be very appropriate.

Rev. Day Attends Baptist Meeting Held at Dallas

Rev. R. E. Day, pastor of the First Baptist church of Bryan and a member of the executive board of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, returned last night from Dallas where he attended an important meeting of the board. Dr. George W. Truett, president of the Southern Baptist convention, and former Governor Pat M. Neff, president of the Baptist general convention of Texas having just returned from Atlanta, Ga., where they sat with the board investigating a shortage of $1,000,000 in the accounts of Clinton S. Carnes, former treasurer of the Baptist Home Mission Board, full report was made to the Dallas meeting.

Rev. Day reports that Dr. T. L. Holcomb, pastor of the First Baptist church of Sherman was elected to serve as secretary of the Baptist general convention. Dr. Holcomb has not yet definitely accepted the secretaryship, but it is hoped that he will do so. Dr. Holcomb is one of the strongest Baptist leaders in Texas. He was elected to succeed Dr. F. S. Garner, who resigned July 10 to accept the presidency of the College at Marshall.

Discussion of fall plans for the ongoing of the work of the denomination in Texas, was also a part of the work before the executive board at the Dallas meeting, in preparation for the annual meeting of the general convention to be held at Mineral Wells, Nov. 18.

Candidate Backs Down on Promise

(By Associated Press) HOUSTON, Sept. 10.—Despite an early campaign statement that he would withdraw from the mayoralty race if a $2,950,000 bond issue carried, James B. Hiram has announced that he will remain a candidate so he can "carry out promises" made by Mayor Oscar Holcombe, who is running for re-election.

The bond issue carried by a six-to-one majority. Hiram had said that he would leave the contest to Holcombe and Walter Meredith, but says his "conscience now compels me to stay in the race to see that the money is spent for what the voters intended it."

Just Like An Ostrich

A medical authority says that a person who tries to cover up skin blemishes with cosmetics, creams and powders is just as foolish as an ostrich that buries its head in the sand to avoid danger. Skin eruptions are nature's warning that contamination is throwing poisons into your blood stream and weakening your whole constitution. Remove the contaminated condition and you will strengthen your system against disease and clear up your disfigured skin. The best way to do this is with a course of Herbine, the vegetable medicine that acts naturally and easily, which you can get at Roman & Vick.

A. M. Waldrop Commended for His Trade Extension Work; Fire Hazards and Good Roads Talked at C. C. Meet

Bryan's reduction of the freight rate on cotton to the seaport has been well advertised over the trade territory within a radius of fifty miles, according to A. M. Waldrop, chairman of the trade extension committee, at today's meeting of the Chamber of Commerce. The directory went on record as favoring this constructive work on the part of the trade extension committee.

Secretary S. E. Eberstadt further reported on his tour of the moving picture, and that all photographs, banners, pennants, and other advertising on the walls had been shown to other towns. He also stated that he had clippings from newspapers to date, amounting to 996 inches, and 22 letters from secretaries and presidents of chambers of commerce.

Letters and telegrams to District Agent R. W. Persons, and to President J. Webb Howell and Secretary S. E. Eberstadt from the San Saba Chamber of Commerce requesting the services of Secretary Eberstadt for an entire day Thursday, Sept. 27, to put on a rally day for that organization. This matter was referred to President J. Webb Howell for his approval, the directors expressing themselves as heartily in favor of same, and President instructed the secretary to accept it, believing the Chamber of Commerce could not do a better work.

George A. Adams, chairman of the fire prevention committee, called attention that since gas had been put in Bryan and parties do not use their flues, and that all who have non-standard flues will take them down entirely, they would be entitled to a reduction in fire insurance rates.

Dr. Thos. Gordon Watts addressed the meeting, stating that he was strong for good roads, and regretted to state that Brazos county was far behind in this work. He said that Bryan, Brazos county, and the Chamber of Commerce could not do a better work than to build first-class roads.

Ty Cobb also addressed the meeting supporting Dr. Watts and President Howell in their arguments for north and south highway in this county.

The secretary read a letter from President Banks of the Prairie View College, asking the Bryan Chamber of Commerce to kindly permit them to have the moving picture, "Bryan, a City of Schools," and that they all are anxious to see this great picture. Secretary Eberstadt was instructed to show this picture at Prairie View when he can conveniently do it.

The following were present: George A. Adams, R. V. Armstrong, Wilson Bradley, W. H. Cole, J. N. Dulaney, H. O. Ferguson, J. Webb Howell, W. S. Howell, E. J. Jenkins, J. Bryan Miller, A. M. Waldrop.

Farm Produce and Livestock Doing Much to Better Farmers in W. Texas; Clippings From Papers Shown Here

By NELL BENTLEY

Every day the columns of our leading daily newspapers yield dispatches that tell how farm produce and livestock are bringing prosperity to Texas farmers; and perhaps the most surprising thing about these stories is that many of them come from West Texas areas, where conditions are not as favorable to dairy, livestock and poultry production as is the area surrounding Bryan and Brazos county.

From one of these under a recent date line we learn that poultrymen in the vicinity of Willis Point, who have gone into egg production on a quality basis, are not able to fill the many orders they are receiving from the larger cities. Eggs have become an important source of income in that section of Texas.

Still another tells of the rapid development of farm dairies in the vicinity of Plainview. So marked has been the progress along the line of increasing production, and building up dairy herds as to number and blood-lines that Lars M. Armstrong, of Stockholm, Sweden, who represents a cream separator company of France, spent some time in and near Plainview observing the market methods, and general management of farm dairies, giving special attention to the bull circle plan in operation there, and its results in improvement to breeding stock of that section.

A market page carries the information that $1400 worth of cream alone is being sold by farmers to a creamery in Quanah; while from Miles comes the story of Otto Garzin, whose farm operations net him a profit each year, and whose success is attributed to diversified crop methods and businesslike management.

Garzin has a 350 acre farm fenced chicken, turkey and sheep proof. His chickens and turkeys are allowed to graze in his cotton fields and his losses from worms and other pests is always less in those parts of the field where the farm fowls range. Five hundred chickens and 100 turkeys are about his average per year.

A flock of 100 sheep, are (according to the story) the source of about the easiest money he receives each year, since they take care of themselves. Garzin also ships a quantity of cream every week.

We are passing on these stories of success and prosperity, just to illustrate some of the combinations of crop and livestock and produce methods that might be worked out to meet the conditions existing in our section of Texas.

We ask you to consider what it would mean to the average farm family of Brazos county if $1400 worth of cream were being sold in Bryan every week? If every farmer in Brazos county had a herd of 25 to 100 sheep? If chickens and turkeys were ranging in every cotton field in Brazos county or even half of them? Or if every farm had cows and sows and hens enough to produce more milk and butter than the family required, more meat than the family would need, and more eggs than the family could possibly use.

You may answer in your own terms, but I'm venturing that the word would be "Prosperity" or one of its synonyms.

Humanity is not much of a virtue if you cultivate it because you are afraid to fight.

as a new member. H. L. Morrison, head of the sales department of the Chevrolet Company, also was introduced.

Mrs. Henry Locke, wife of the president, and daughter, Miss Frances Locke, were introduced. The Lions gave their "roar" for them. W. E. Leverkuhn, who recently was elected to membership and who will teach vocational agriculture at Bryan high, was presented by President Locke. Miss Mary Belle Woodruff, who will teach expression in Bryan high, was introduced by the circuitous route of Supt. H. L. Durham and School Board Member R. V. Armstrong. L. H. Fuller of Houston, who lived in Bryan many years ago, was introduced by Charlie Griesser.

President Locke called upon Ty Cobb to present Secretary Sam E. Eberstadt, who had just returned from a tour of the state with the Bryan-College movie. "Secretary Eberstadt has rendered Bryan and her educational institutions an outstanding service, one that merits the special attention of this club," said Cobb. Secretary Eberstadt replied with an eloquent speech, in which he thanked the Lions for the many favors they had rendered him, and he said "I always hope to live in such a way as to continue to hold your friendship and esteem."

Secretary R. C. Franks read the minutes. Mrs. Carl Sprague, well-known local entertainer, played the piano and then sang and played her own accompaniment.

Fred Hale, who was in charge of the program, also presented Miss Belle Woodruff, who opened her part of the program with a story on Ty Cobb which figuratively speaking, "brought down the house." She then gave two readings which were exceptionally well enjoyed.

Luther G. Jones of A. and M. College, speaking of "Soils," said that the soil in Brazos county was such as to raise almost anything. His speech was listened to with much interest.

The following were present: Clarence Curlee, H. L. Morrison, R. E. Bosque, Noah W. Dansby, John M. Lawrence Jr., Tom G. Suber, J. M. Ferguson, S. D. Snyder, J. Coulter Smith, M. F. Vitopil, E. R. Bryant, M. Schulman, R. V. Armstrong, Miss Mary Belle Woodruff, Harry L. Durham, W. E. Leverkuhn, Bill Wimberly, W. E. Chambers, J. A. Clutter, C. E. Griesser, L. H. Fuller of Houston, Joe Kaplan, W. E. Neeley, H. H. Young, A. S. Ware, John E. Blair, R. C. Franks, Luther G. Jones, Mrs. Carl Sprague, S. E. Eberstadt, Fred Hale, W. S. Howell, Lamar Jones, F. D. Anti-Smith Club Formed Navasota

Last night the City Hall was the scene of the first meeting of the Anti-Smith Club of Navasota. Rev. W. N. Purcell, who was the instigator of this meeting, acted as temporary chairman at the opening of the meeting.

"This is a stand by the right and there is not going to be any antagonism. No doubt there will be mean sayings about this organization, but if you are in the right, you will never be afraid to face man or God," Rev. Purcell said as his opening words.

The election of officers took up the greater part of the meeting. Two chairmen were elected, L. N. Yeager chairman for the men, and Mrs. R. M. Lindsey, chairman for the women.

With the new chairman L. N. Yeager in charge, the following officers were elected: Secretary, R. M. Lindsey; treasurer, Chas. E. Henry; assistant chairman, G. H. Elliott; publicity manager, Miss Katherine Sangster.

This was the first meeting of the Anti-Smith club and with the enthusiasm and cooperation shown at this time, a fine harvest is expected to be reaped.

The date for the next meeting was set for Thursday, September 13th, at the City Hall at 8:00 o'clock.—Navasota Examiner.

Sheriff Reed Is About Well Again

J. H. Reed, Brazos county's popular sheriff, has about recovered from a two week's illness of the "flu." The sheriff smilingly says that he would be ill yet had it not been for the faithful and efficient ministrations of his wife. "Since district court will soon convene again I simply had to get well," said the sheriff.

Birth Registrations Are Being Recorded

Birth registrations are now being recorded by County Health Nurse Miss Ella Bandelin. Registrations of both whites and colored children are being secured. If a child is registered before it is named, the registration is void she said. It is amazing how many children have not been registered, she declared, and this is of utmost importance. She solicits the support of the public in this undertaking.

Big Encampment

The girls' 4-H educational encampment at the Dallas Fair is one of the big events of club life. This encampment is an annual affair. A certain quota of girls from various counties over the state meet there this year from Oct. 16 to 18. The Chamber of Commerce has graciously provided scholarships for Brazos county's quota of four. These girls will see the fair, take in all the attractions, and take educational trips over the city. Those who go represent the cream of Texas 4-H Club girls for these trips are awarded to the girls who make the best records in club work during the year. A girl can go only one time during her club career unless she is county winner in the College Scholarship Contest. Alma Kindt won a trip last year and will have the rare privilege of going the second time because she is Brazos county's scholarship girl. This county is allowed three more girls. Who are they? That is to be determined in the near future. All club girls in the county who desire to compete for this trip must send record book complete, story of year's work, club sewing, and canned goods to the home agent's office not later than Sept. 22. Since it is possible that some corrections will have to be made in record books it will be best to have the exhibit in by the 15th.

Millican Notes

MILICAN, Sept. 12.—Mrs. J. Walter Smith gave her Sunday School class and their friends a moonlight picnic or "weiner" roast a few nights ago. All are loud in praise of the good time had. The convention also included a resolution presented by Mrs. Clara Driscoll Sevier of Austin urging that the state purchase the land around the Alamo which once was a part of the Alamo inclosure.

Tom Connally Heard

From the time that the hall was cleared of the Hoover Democrats during the first 30 minutes of the convention, there was not an unharmonious incident. Myron G. Blalock of Marshall, temporary chairman and an ardent supporter of the national ticket and the personal friend of Governor Moody, was the temporary chairman, and he sounded a key note of party loyalty, praise of Governor Smith and Senator Robinson and plea for a reunited and a militant Democracy. He also praised the administration of Governor Dan Moody.

During the afternoon session, formal canvass of the returns of the primaries was made, and the result announced, and speeches of acceptance were made by Congressman Tom Connally, the party's nominee for the United States Senate, Barry Miller, nominee for lieutenant governor, and Claude Pollard, nominee for attorney general.

The high point of the day was when W. A. Tarver of Navarro county, the permanent chairman of the convention, brought his speech to a close with a ringing appeal for the success of the national democratic ticket.

Women prohibition leaders were active during the sessions of the convention after the bolters had left. Mrs. J. E. King of San Antonio was the chairman of the committee on permanent organization. Mrs. Lee J. Rountree was the vice chairman of the convention. Senator Margie E. Neal, the only woman member of the state committee, was the secretary of the convention.

The convention represented a new alignment in Texas politics. Absent from leadership in its deliberations were many such men who have been dictating state democratic conventions for many years in the state.

Gone were Marshall Hicks and Frank C. Davis, two consistent attendants on the conventions and two men who usually were officials of conventions. Thomas H. Ball of Houston was not present, nor was Cone Johnson of Tyler. Senator Eafle B. Mayfield was absent. Thomas B. Love went out with the bolters.

Governor Moody sat in the convention for a few minutes during the morning but since that time took no part in the proceedings, although he went before the platform committee, headed by R. L. Stennis of Dallas, to present his plans. One of them was a prohibition plank, the other for civil service and the other for centralization of the penitentiary system. The civil service plank was directly rejected and the penitentiary relocation bill was compromised.

John Boyle of San Antonio, the Smith chieftain in this State, attended the convention but took no active part on the floor. Steve Pinckney of Houston led the Smith forces on the floor. He and Boyle are close personal friends and were in frequent conferences during the day.
